

UNITED STATES DEMANDS GUARANTEE THAT RIGHTS WILL BE RESPECTED SEEKS FULL REPARATION FOR LOSS OF AMERICAN LIVES IN SINKING OF LUSITANIA

President Makes Several Changes in Legal Detail and Note Will Be Dispatched to Germany Today—No Changes Are Made in the Es- sentials of the Communication As Approved By the Cabinet.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—The United States, in a note to be sent to Germany tomorrow, demands a guarantee that there will be no further attacks by submarines on merchant ships carrying non-combatants. It serves notice also that full reparation will be sought for the loss of more than 100 American lives in the sinking of the Lusitania for other violations of American rights in the sea zones of war.

While no indication is given of the steps to be taken by the United States in the event of an unfavorable reply the note informs the German government that the American government will leave nothing undone either in diplomatic representations or other action to obtain at compliance with its requests. The document was to have been called tonight, but by the cabinet yesterday. The principal points in the note are substantially as follows:

One: The United States government calls attention to the various incidents in the war zone proclaimed by Germany around the British Isles, the sinking of the British liner Palala, with the loss of Leon C. Thresher, an American; the attack by German airmen on the American steamer Cushing, the torpedoing without warning of the American Steamer Guilford, flying the stars and stripes and finally, the torpedoing without warning of the Lusitania with its loss of more than a thousand lives of non-combatants, among them more than one hundred Americans.

Two: These acts are declared to be indefensible under international law. The United States points out that it never admitted Germany's right to do them and warned the imperial government that it would be held to a "strict accountability" for attacks on American vessels or lives. A strict accounting, therefore, is now asked from Germany.

Three: The usual financial reparation will be sought, although Germany is in effect restored that no reparation can restore the lives of those sacrificed in the sinking of the Lusitania and other ships.

Four: Expressions of regret may comply with the legal precedents but they are valueless unless accompanied by a cessation of the practices endangering lives of non-combatants.

Five: The right of neutrals to travel any point of the high seas on neutral or belligerent merchantmen is asserted.

Six: In the name of humanity and international law the United States demands a guarantee that these rights will be respected and that there be no repetition of the attacks on merchantmen carrying non-combatants.

Seven: The giving of warning to the American public without officially communicating them to the United States government is commented on in connection with the German embassy's printed advertisement before the sailing of the Lusitania, but irrespective of the failure to advise the American government of Germany's purpose, the point is made that notice of an intention to do an unlawful act neither justified nor legalized.

Eight: The suggestion is conveyed that the German government of course could not have intended to destroy innocent lives and that consequently the German submarine commanders must have misunderstood their instructions. The American government indicates its hopes that this will be found to be true and a cessation of the unlawful practices thereby will result.

Nine: In conclusion, Germany's attention is called to the earnestness of the government and people of the United States in this situation. It is made plain that the United States will leave nothing undone either in diplomatic representation or other action to obtain a compliance by Germany to the request made.

Couched in Friendly Tone.
The note throughout is couched in friendly tones but is unmistakably firm. By the suggestion that German submarine commanders must have misunderstood the instructions or that the German government could not intend to destroy innocent lives, room is given for a disavowal by Germany of the practices in the war zone and an assurance that future attacks will be prohibited.

In executive quarters intense interest prevailed today and news of what the American note contained was eagerly sought by officials in the government departments and in diplomatic circles generally. Some international lawyers and diplomats who have followed closely Germany's course since the beginning of the submarine warfare were of the opinion that a compliance by Germany with the terms of the American note would not be surprising and even that such a course would not be a departure from previous expressions. Germany has maintained, it was contended that the submarine activity would not permit foodstuffs and conditional contraband destined to civilians to reach Germany and because the neutrals by their protests had been powerless to effect an adherence to the rules of international law by the allies in questions of contraband.

Should Germany announce her intention to abandon submarine warfare it was believed by some diplomats she would not necessarily make a stipulation, but would state her expectation that the United States as the greatest neutral would secure equal guarantees from the allies on questions of contraband.

Officials Decline to Pledge.
In the event that Germany took the opposite course and refused to comply with the wishes of the United States high officials declined to predict what steps would be taken beyond indicating that the Washington government would deal with each development in the situation as it arose. Reports that Americans had been advised to leave Germany on account of the critical state of relations with the United States were declared to be wholly unfounded by officials.

Americans in all belligerent countries were advised by the state department at the outbreak of hostilities to leave the danger zone and no special instructions have since been given to American envoys in Europe.

Taft Writes Letter.
Messages continued to flood the white house and state department today suggesting various lines of policy. Many expressed entire confidence in the president. Conspicuous among these was a personal letter from former President Taft expressing his confidence in and his support of Mr. Wilson in the delicate situation. He gave his own suggestions of what should be done by the United States, which, it was said did not differ materially from the course the president had adopted. The white house let it be known that the president was highly gratified over Mr. Taft's action. Stephen Parantoff, the Bulgarian minister, called at the state department during the day and expressed to Secretary Bryan his sympathy for the loss of the life of the Americans caused by the sinking of the Lusitania.

It became known tonight that department of justice officials are giving consideration to the question of whether publications containing matter such as editorials seeking to justify the sinking of the Lusitania and advising the repetition of such acts can be kept out of the mails under the provision of the penal code making it an offense to circulate "matter of a character intended to incite arson, murder or assassination."

Consider Bernberg's Utterances.
Some officials think the law might be construed to apply to public speeches of a similar character. Dr. Bernhard Bernberg's utterances still are being given attention in high official quarters and it is strongly intimated that some steps will be taken to end his activity. It was suggested today that the German embassy might be informed that Dr. Bernberg, a German subject, was making himself offensive to the American government and people.

Discontinue Advertising.
The German embassy tonight notified by letter and telegraph newspapers in all of the larger cities of the United States to discontinue the publication of advertisements warning Americans against trans-Atlantic travel on belligerent ships. No reason for discontinuing the advertisement is given in the letters and telegrams but it was stated at the embassy tonight that the warning was considered to have been sufficient.

The note throughout is couched in friendly tones but is unmistakably

SINKING OF LUSITANIA AROUSES SMOLDERING HATRED OF GERMANS

Animosity Has Found Expression in Attacks on Germans in London, Liverpool and Other Places in England.

London, May 12.—(10:30 p. m.)—The sinking of the Lusitania has aroused to a violent climax the smoldering hatred and suspicion of Germans living in England. This animosity has found expression during the last twenty-four hours in attacks on Germans, principally on their shops in the poor quarters of London and Liverpool, while there have been minor disturbances in Manchester, Birkenhead, Glasgow and a few other places. Many German shops had their windows smashed and some were pillaged. The proprietors of the shops generally were driven away by angry crowds. None of the persons attacked are reported to have been seriously injured, but a considerable number were more or less beaten and their clothes torn. One or two shops have been set on fire by the rioters.

A spontaneous movement has developed in the London market to boycott subject of enemy countries and small dealers who appeared for supplies today were refused them and a number of them driven away by crowds. The police forces of both London and Liverpool have been depleted by enlistments in the army.

A number of police have been injured during the riotings. Many of the disturbers of peace were brought before the police courts today and received punishment in sentences ranging from four months imprisonment, imposed on one Liverpool woman, to a four shillings fine.

In several instances, English, Swiss and Russian, bearing Teutonic names, have been mistaken for the rioters for German establishments and suffered the same damage as the German shops.

DESCRIBES ULTIMATE OBJECT OF INDUSTRIAL WORKERS OF WORLD

Secretary Holds Up as His Land of Promise a World in Which Labor Should Control all the Means of Production.

Washington, May 12.—A revolution that would wipe out America's present industrial and political system and establish an ideal era of freedom was described to the federal commission on industrial relations today as the ultimate object of the Industrial Workers of the World, by William D. Haywood, its secretary and treasurer. A world in which labor, organized into a vast compact union, should control all of the means of production and in which there should be no such thing as capital was held up by Haywood as his land of promise. He declared that only implacable war between labor and capital, ending with a great strike and confiscation of the means of production, could bring the workers to that ideal existence.

"This is a class struggle that must go on," he told the commission. "There can be no identity of interest between the workers who have only their labor power and such men as Rockefeller and Morgan and their stockholders who contribute nothing to production. The struggle will go on despite everything this commission can do or can recommend to Labor must fight for what capital now controls, the means of production, congress. The battle is inevitable, tools, machinery and all of those things which should be controlled by labor alone."

"I have had a dream of a new society some time in which there will be no struggle between capital and labor, in which every man will have free access to the land and the means of production and livelihood. There will be no government, no states as we know them now. Congress will be made out of lawyers and preachers, but of experts from all branches of industry, come together for the good of all the people."

WERE PITTSFIELD DELEGATES.

Among delegates to the meeting of the 20th District, Federation of Women's clubs in Pittsfield Tuesday and Wednesday, and the organizations they represented were: Wednesday class, Mrs. U. G. Woodman, Mrs. F. J. Vaddell, Mrs. Miller Weir and Mrs. A. L. Adams; East Side Tuesday club, Mrs. Ben Lorton, Mrs. J. K. C. Pierson, Miss Courtney Crouse and Mrs. Charles Raitchak; Household Science club, Mrs. Lorton and Mrs. A. J. Ward; College Hill club, Mrs. Charles H. Smith and Miss Georgia Fairbank; Mound Woman's Country club, Mrs. J. W. Clary and Miss Mae Strawn.

MOB WRECKS ESTABLISHMENTS

London, May 12.—(4:23 a. m.)—A Reuters despatch from Johannesburg says a mob wrecked a number of Austrian and German establishments in that city yesterday. The police intervened to quell the disturbances.

Officials of the German embassy tonight considered that the advertisements already published had had the effect of giving sufficient warning and deemed it inadvisable to continue the advertisement in view of the existing situation following the sinking of the Lusitania. This advertisement which appeared twice was to have been published for third time next Saturday. On its first appearance the advertisement was printed in some papers on the same page with the approaching sailing of the Lusitania.

RUSS TAKE OFFENSIVE IN EASTERN GALICIA

CLAIM TO HAVE DRIVEN AUSTRIANS
BACK ALONG FORTY MILE FRONT

Heavy Fighting Is Reported From the Gallipoli Peninsula and the Dardanelles—Muscovites Are Still Falling Back Before the Germanic Allies in Western Galicia.

London, May 12.—(11:20 p. m.)—Another big battle has been added to those taking place in Flanders and western Galicia, the Russians have taken the offensive in eastern Galicia, Bukovina and along the Dniester river. According to the Russian report the Muscovites have driven the Austrians back along a front of over forty miles, capturing many prisoners and making a great haul of booty. The Russians also are said to have taken energetic action against the Germans who raided the Baltic provinces and to have re-captured the town of Shavil, while in central Poland they are on the offensive along the Bzara river.

Heavy Fighting Is Reported.
Heavy fighting also is reported from the Gallipoli peninsula and the Dardanelles where the Anglo-French troops on Friday last had advanced to the vicinity of Krithia, some five miles from the point where they landed and from the entrance to the straits. Since then the fleet has re-commenced a heavy bombardment of the forts in the narrows, an indication, it is believed here, that the troops have got in such good positions that they no longer require the support of the ship's fire.

The greatest interest, however, centers in the great battles which are being fought from the Belgian coast to Arras, in northern France and the battle in western Galicia, where the Russians are still falling back before the onslaught on the Germanic allies.

In the battle in Flanders the Germans continue their attacks against the British lines east of Ypres where they on Saturday and Sunday and almost daily since then have launched tremendous attacks. The Russians admit that they are still retreating in western Galicia while the Austrians and Germans make greater claim and say that besides crossing the San river they have captured many towns on the northern slopes of the Carpathians and right across to the Polish border and are forcing the Russians to give up many of their hard won positions in those mountains.

Expect Re-capture of Przemyśl.
Their advance eastward has brought the Austro-Germans nearly within striking distance of Przemyśl and military observers believe that, unless the Russians can make a stand on the river San the fortress of Przemyśl, the fall of which caused such a great impression not many weeks ago, will soon again be in the hands of its original owners.

American action with regard to the sinking of the Lusitania and the Italian situation are the outstanding diplomatic features of the war. The latest news from Rome is that the Italian government intends to constitute parliament an arbiter on the question of peace or war.

FUGITIVES REPORT CONDITION IN MEXICO CITY AS CRITICAL

Message From Omotusco States Rioting and Assassinations Occur Almost Daily.

San Antonio, Texas, May 12.—Forty fugitives arriving at Omotusco from Mexico City report conditions critical with rioting and assassinations occurring almost daily says a message from Omotusco received tonight.

"By orders of Emilio Zapata the Zapatistas are withdrawing from the city to Tula and Ajusco mountains leaving the capital without sufficient troops," the message says. "It is stated here that constitutionalists refrain from entering Mexico City for strategic reasons and President Garza is practically without authority."

"The Zapata troops between the capital and Omotusco are without ammunition and a large force of constitutionalists troops is preparing to clean the country between Apan and Pachuca."

Omotusco is fifty miles north-east of Mexico City.

STATES MANY ARE KILLED IN RIOTS IN CONSTANTINOPLE

GENEVA, via Paris, May 12.—The Journal Geneve has received a despatch from Saloniki saying that many persons have been killed or injured in course of riots in Constantinople. Mobs numbering thousands, the newspaper says, pillaged the principal shops and hotels. The Sultan's guard has been called out. According to this information the Pera Palace Hotel, the largest and most pretentious European hotel in the city, was sacked. The police were overwhelmed.

Food prices have doubled and there is widespread misery among the poorer classes. The hospitals are crowded with wounded soldiers.

War News Summarized

For five days one of the greatest battles of the war has been going on in Flanders and the north of France. Ypres and Arras have been the centers of this concerted movement which was begun by the Germans in anticipation of a British attack last Saturday.

The French further to the south wasted no time in opening on the German lines with their artillery and later in a hand to hand combat gained a very considerable amount of ground, most of which, according to their official report they still hold.

German forces in vast numbers have been delivering furious attacks against the British who according to both Field Marshal Sir John French and the official "eye-witness" of the British army have been able to hold their lines although at one time they were broken in several places.

The French report large numbers of prisoners captured and the way is prepared in the details of the battle so far given out for publication of exceedingly large casualty lists.

The retreat of the Russians between the Carpathians and the Vistula is still in full progress and the Austrians continue to report the capture of towns and the pursuit of their adversaries.

On the other hand the Russian official announcement, though admitting reverses in the Carpathians, gives an optimistic view of the Russian position in the Baltic provinces and at other points.

Cracow despatch gives the Austro-German losses since May 1st, as 165,000 officers and men, and places the losses to the Russians in prisoners at 50,000.

Throughout the British Isles strong retaliatory measures have been taken by the British people themselves against German residents themselves, naturalized or otherwise. There has been serious rioting in various cities and Premier Asquith is reported to be taking steps, in consonance with the demands of the people to intern or deport all alien enemies of Great Britain.

The position of Italy has not yet been officially defined. A council of ministers has been held for a complete review of the situation, with the result, that the cabinet will take the matter before the Italian parliament.

STATES ITALY'S INTERVENTION IN WAR HAS BEEN DECIDED UPON

Meeting of Council of Ministers Is Held to Discuss Situation—No Communication Is Issued at Its Conclusion.

Geneva, via Paris, May 12.—(1:25 a. m.)—The correspondent at Rome of the Journal De Geneve says he is able to affirm that Italy's intervention in the war has been absolutely decided upon.

"The government," the correspondent adds, "shortly will take steps which will leave no doubt about Italy's intentions and when the cabinet appears before parliament May 20th that body will ratify an accomplished fact."

Council of Ministers Meets.

Rome, via Paris, May 12.—(5 p. m.)—A meeting of the council of ministers held today to discuss the situation in Italy and Austria lasted over two hours. At its conclusion no communication was issued as to the result arrived at but it was believed that a decision was reached.

The newspapers make extended comment on the fact that Deputy Eraldo Ferri, former leader of the Socialists, went to the royal palace today and remained there for over an hour. It is not known yet whether Ferri saw King Victor Emmanuel or only his first aide, General Brusati. In any case the presence of the deputy at the Quirinal is considered by the newspapers as most significant and it is declared that it may influence the parliamentary situation.

Great efforts are being made in all quarters here to effect an understanding between the cabinet and Signor Giolitti before the meeting of parliament May 20th, the people desiring to give the world proof of the unanimity of the Italian parliament at a moment which is so vital to the country's future.

RESUME HOSTILITIES.

El Paso, May 12.—Hostilities were resumed yesterday for the first time in several days between the advance positions of Villa and Obregon armies in central Mexico. A message received today from General Villa's headquarters at an unnamed position near Aguas Calientes stated that the Carranza troops started a furious attack at a ranch near Salao. The official Villa report asserted that the Carranza attack had been repulsed.

The fighting has been along a line midway between Villa's and Obregon's bases.

REFEREE STOPS MATCH.

New York, May 12.—The ten round match here tonight between George Chip of New Castle, Pa., and Jimmy Clabby of Hammond, Ind., middle-weights, was declared "no contest" by Referee Billy Roche in the eighth round when he ordered the men to their corners and stopped the bout on the ground that the boxers were not trying.

LAUNCH MOVEMENT TOWARD LASTING PEACE

PROMINENT MEN GIVE ASSURANCE
STEP IS NOT VISIONARY

World Court Congress Plans an International Court of Justice Founded on an Agreement to Which all the Great Powers Would be Signatory.

Cleveland, May 12.—With the opening here this afternoon of the world court congress, a movement was formally launched which its advocates claim is the greatest advance yet taken toward lasting peace among the world powers.

Prominent men from all over the country, including William H. Taft, Alton B. Parker, Henry Clews and many others were present, giving assurance, Mayor Newton D. Baker said in his welcoming address, that the movement, "is not visionary, not impractical."

Plans International Court.
The congress plans an international court of justice founded on an agreement to which all the great powers would be signatory. All signatory nations would submit their disputes to the court. One not doing so would be subjected to the combined pressure of the others. Each speaker at the opening session dwelt on the stable character of the congress plan.

"This plan is not so foolish as to conceive that war will be made impossible by such a court," said John Hays Hammond, chairman, in an address opening the deliberations.

"What we hope to do is to minimize the possibilities of war," Former President Taft said. "A movement like this loses force by making claims of what it will accomplish. But we are trying to be practical. We are not rainbow chasers and we are not offering a millennium."

Taft Yields to Demands.
Mr. Taft had not been scheduled to speak at the afternoon session but yielded to demands from the audience that he do so.

Judge Alton B. Parker responded to similar appeals. He made an attack on the United States senate which he said had nullified previous attempts at treaty making which would have insured the United States against war with Great Britain or France. He declared that the opinion of the American people must be so decidedly moulded that when the time comes for an international agreement the United States will be certain to be a signatory, the senate notwithstanding. "And," he added, "does any one doubt that when the awful conflict in Europe is ended, the warring nations, viewing their dead and their devastated countries, will welcome a plan which promises an end of such disasters?"

Mr. Taft was the only speaker at the afternoon session who alluded to the delicate situation in which the United States finds itself as a result of the war. He said:

"At a time when nearly all of Europe is at war and our own country is uncomfortably near to the disturbance, the launching of a plan for an international court of justice seems propitious."

Three Speak at Night.

Mr. Taft, Mr. Parker and Bainbridge Colby, of New York were the speakers at the night session, their addresses relating to the general topic of the United States supreme court, the prototype of the world.

Mr. Park was presiding officer. Among others attending the conference are Henry Lane Wilson, William Dunley Foulke, Harry A. Garfield, Prof. Jeremiah Jenks, Prof. Samuel T. Dutton, Thomas Raeburn White, Dr. John Wesley Hill and Dr. Albert Shaw. John Mitchell and General Booth are expected later. William Wilson of Chicago today was elected secretary of the congress.

LAUD VANDERBILT'S HEROISM

London, May 12.—(6:55 p. m.)—There is one incident the world will remember in connection with the sinking of the Lusitania," said the bishop of London today, while presiding at a meeting of the Waifs and Strays society.

"When Alfred G. Vanderbilt was face to face with death he said to his valet: 'Come and let us save the kiddies.' Those words will run round the world in a way no millionaire's millions could ever do."

ASSEMBLY PASSES FORTY-FOUR BILLS

Measure Creating Pension and Retirement Fund for Teachers Passes House

REPORT IS ADOPTED

Million Dollar F. & M. Appropriation Measure Will Go to the Governor Today

RECOMMEND WATERWAY BILL

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 12.—Looking toward an early adjournment both houses of the legislature today got down to business and passed forty-four bills, ten by the house and thirty-four by the senate. The house killed sixteen bills and the senate one.

The most important measure passed by the house was the Landee teacher's pension bill, creating a pension and retirement fund for public school teachers.

Included in the thirty-four bills passed by the senate were those authorizing cities to re-enact wheel tax ordinances, the injunction and abatement bill, making it easier to close disorderly houses, and the bill providing a fine and imprisonment for fraudulent advertising.

Hubbard Leads Opposition.
Representative Hubbard led the opposition to the teachers' pension bill. He declared that the pensioning of teachers would be the starting of a system of paternalism that will eventually work to the disadvantage of the senate. He declared the Landee bill provided for class legislation.

The million dollar foot and mouth appropriation bill covering the state's share in the slaughter of cattle in the effort to suppress the foot and mouth contagion will go to the governor tomorrow and the money will be available as soon as the bill is signed. The senate today receded from its amendments and the conference committee report was adopted by the house. The senate is expected to adopt the report tomorrow. The bill fixing a penalty for extortion in the settlement of labor disputes was defeated by the senate. It received only 23 votes.

Vote Favorable Recommendation.
The senate elections committee voted to report out with favorable recommendation Senator Baldwin's bill providing for registration of travelers who are kept away from home on registration days. The committee also voted to report out with favorable recommendation the bill prepared by former Assistant Attorney General Charles Woodard, codifying the election laws of the state and changing the terms of office of a few county officials in order to reduce the number of elections. The senate committee on labor this evening referred to a sub-committee of five members of which Senator Baldwin is chairman, the bill limiting the employment of women to eight hours a day. The committee will have a hearing in Chicago next Monday morning when a number of business men will appear in opposition to the measure.

Boxing Bill Survives.
The boxing bill this evening survived its first open fight on the floor of either house of the legislature. By a standing vote of 31 to 78 the house refused to kill the measure by striking out its enacting clause and the bill was advanced to third reading without amendment.

Friends of the bill were jubilant tonight and predicted that the boxing bill would be passed in both houses by safe majorities. They pointed out that the bill needs only 77 votes for passage and that 78 members voted against striking out its enacting clause. Predictions have been freely made that the bill would pass the senate if successful in the house. Four resolutions assuring President Wilson that the people of Illinois will support him in whatever action he may take in regard to the torpedoing of the Lusitania were offered in the lower house of the legislature this evening. Action was deferred and the resolutions were referred to the rules committee.

Recommend Waterway Bill.

Redrafted to overcome engineering difficulties, Governor Dunne's waterway bill was reported out and recommended for passage today by the waterway's committees of both houses. The house and senate will hold a joint session next Wednesday to hear United States Senators Lawrence Y. Sherman and J. Hamilton Lewis speak in favor of the waterway plan.

As finally agreed upon bill provides for an expenditure of $5,000,000 in the building of an eight foot channel connecting the Chicago drainage canal with the head of navigation in the Illinois river. Governor Dunne's appointments of James H. Burdett as chairman of the state civil service commission, Walter Bennett of Quincy as state fire marshal and Robert Edie of Springfield as member of the industrial board will be recommended to the Republican caucus tomorrow morning for confirmation. This was decided upon tonight at a meeting of the committee on executive nominations.

Over 150,000 horses have been purchased in America for shipment to the warring nations of Europe. At a fair estimate, the average price was not less than $150, which would make a total of more than $22,500,000 paid for horses alone. This accounts for a part of the balance of trade in favor of the United States, credit for which the Democrats have made a vain attempt to assume.

Canada has a duty of $7.84 per ton on steel rails. The Underwood tariff act put steel rails on the free list. In recent months 60,000 tons of rails have been imported into this country from Canada. In an address delivered in Pittsburgh recently, Representative McCall asserted that in the vicinity of the great rolling mills at Gary and South Chicago, which are closed down, for a long period, they are laying rails that were made in Canada.

The Traffic Ordinance.

As suggested at the meeting of the city council Monday morning, the intention of the department of public health and safety is to begin a campaign for the vigorous enforcement of the various provisions of the traffic ordinance. There are frequent violations of the speed provisions of the ordinance, but there are other violations as well. Signs are to be placed about the city as reminders to automobile drivers of what the provisions of the speed laws are, and the attention of the public will be called in various ways to the provisions of the whole ordinance.

Then when a thorough understanding has been given, all violators will be arrested and made to pay the penalty. It is likely, too, that there will be some new regulations with reference to the parking of automobiles about the square and the streets adjacent. The streets leading to the square are so narrow that when cars are left along the side other traffic is interfered with and it is possible that owners of cars who have business on the square or near it will be asked to park their cars on the square. If this is done it is probable that spaces will be marked off on the pavement adjoining the curbing of the park proper in order to indicate to drivers just how much space they are entitled to. Without this provision it often happens that a car is parked in such a way that a great deal of space is lost. A glance at cars on the square yesterday supplied evidence in this regard, as some of them were so placed that there were five or six feet between but still not enough to be available for any other car. The public should join the authorities in hearty co-operation for the enforcement of the traffic ordinance.

U. S. Note Firm But Friendly.

The advance information given out from Washington indicates that the United States note to Germany resulting from the sinking of the Lusitania is worded in a most dignified way yet has a firmness which should satisfy even the most bombastic orators demanding that drastic measures should be taken. In brief the United States will demand that Germany give assurance that there will be no further attacks made upon merchant ships of either belligerents or neutrals carrying passengers and that full reparation shall be made for the lives of the one hundred or more Americans lost with the Lusitania.

It will be pointed out that the Lusitania sinking was but the culmination of offenses against international law and as evidence along this line various happenings will be recalled, the sinking of a British liner with Leon Thresher, an American, on board; the attack by German irmen on the American steamer Cushing; the torpedoing of the American steamer Gulfight.

The note will contain the suggestion that the U. S. assumes that the action taken by the German submarine in sinking the Lusitania was the result of a misunderstanding of orders given by the government. In making the unequivocal demand that assurances be given of no future occurrences such as those enumerated the note will suggest that the warning printed in American newspapers without formal notice to the government constitutes a very unusual proceeding and by no means justified the act done.

While the communication is friendly in tone it leaves no doubt as to the deep feeling which this government has upon the subject and that the demands have been framed only after a full and mature consideration of the grave results which might follow the refusal of Germany to accede. Should Germany deny the requests then this government would seek compliance through diplomatic representations and if these fail then there would be nothing left for this country but to seek to enforce the demands. Thoughtful citizens will find in the note a friendly spirit seeking to continue the influence of this country for peace, and also an unmistakable firmness which indicates that a critical time has arrived and that if these just demands are not met that unwillingly, sorrowfully this country will take every step necessary to protect its honor and to guarantee that safety on the seas which has heretofore been accorded the people of all nations.

Man's Humanity to Man.

Out at the Burlington wreck yesterday there was a splendid example of "man's humanity to man". An unknown negro, stealing a ride on the train, was caught between two heavy coal cars as the train buckled up when the engine left the track. His cry of pain quickly attracted attention and within a surprisingly short time a crowd of a hundred men at least had assembled.

They were all seemingly anxious to be of any service possible and with willing hands they hastened to shovel away the coal which formed a barrier to getting at the car end which must be removed before the unfortunate man could be released. Some ran for tools to do the work; others hastened to nearby telephones to summon the ambulance and physicians; still others went for restoratives, and on every face and many lips there were expressions of sympathy. They were needed, too, for the unknown black man was in great pain.

And one in the throng commenting upon this display of the milk of human kindness, could not but think how strongly the scene contrasted with that now happening daily in the old world, where thousands are fighting in the trenches or going down to death at sea; where men fly at one another's throats and where all the elements of savagery are in evidence in the treatment accorded even to women and children. This observer's comment was that there was a strange psychological thought in the comparison, whatever that may mean. Certainly there is the thought that no doubt the same hearts beat across the sea that were evidenced here at the railroad wreck, and that when those hearts can be touched, then the end of the greatest war in history will be in sight.

Kaiser Confers the Order of Black Eagle on Von Falkenhayn

AMSTERDAM, Via London, May 12.—(7.08 p. m.)—A despatch received here today from Berlin says Emperor William has sent the following communication to Field Marshal Von Falkenhayn, chief of staff:

"With a sharp clear glance, accurately gauging the situation, you discovered the point where the Russian army was most vulnerable and with the plans made in consequence achieved a great success.

"The present glorious victory gives me a fresh opportunity to declare my thanks and those of the Fatherland for your devoted work in my service, that of the Fatherland, performed in a quiet and unselfish manner.

"Among those who made it possible for the German army to show a bold front to the world and her enemies and achieve a great success over them, you stand as chief of the general staff in the front rank. As a token of my gratitude I confer on you the Order of the Black Eagle."

HOT TEA BREAKS A COLD—TRY THIS

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Tee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teaspoon full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.

NEW YORK ATTORNEY TESTIFIES FOR BARNES

SWears Roosevelt Agreed Republican Party Needed Him

Declares After What Happened in 1912 the Former President Assented the Republican Party Was Not Big Enough to Hold Him and Barnes.

Syracuse, May 12.—A witness for William Barnes, swore in the supreme court here today in the trial of Mr. Barnes' libel suit against Theodore Roosevelt that less than a year ago Colonel Roosevelt agreed that the Republican party needed him and said that he would "go after President Wilson with his Pittsburgh speech and on the following treaties and tear him to pieces", then declared this witness, the former president asserted that after what had happened at Chicago in 1912 the Republican party was not big enough to hold him and Mr. Barnes. The witness was John W. Hutchinson, a New York lawyer and chairman of the speakers bureau of the Republican state committee from 1906 to 1912.

Contradicts Loeb's Statements. Mr. Hutchinson went upon the witness stand after William J. Woolman, a New York broker had contradicted the statements made last week by William J. Loeb, private secretary of Colonel Roosevelt when he was president and later collector of the port of New York. Mr. Loeb testified that he talked to Mr. Barnes at Mr. Woolman's office in 1911, when the state senate was deadlocked over the selection of a United States senator to succeed Chauncey M. Depew. Under oath, he said he had talked to Mr. Barnes about the deadlock and that Mr. Barnes said he could do nothing at that time to end it. Mr. Woolman said he had never seen Mr. Loeb until November, 1912, after Woodrow Wilson was elected president.

Tells of Barnes' Career.

The majority of witnesses who preceded or followed Mr. Woolman and Mr. Hutchinson on the stand gave testimony designed to show that Mr. Barnes and Charles F. Murphy of Tammany Hall were not political allies at the time of the deadlock in the state legislature, in contradiction of the witnesses who testified for Colonel Roosevelt. Benjamin B. Odell, former governor and Republican leader of New York and at one time a member of congress, testified principally about the early political career of Mr. Barnes and campaign contributions. He denied that any Democrats as individuals, had contributed to the Republican campaign fund in 1898 and 1899, while he was chairman of the Republican state committee and stated that no promises were made in return for contributions from corporations. Mr. Hutchinson said he met Colonel Roosevelt by appointment in the Harvard Club in New York on July 15th, 1914.

ORDERS THAT BODIES OF VICTIMS BE TAKEN DIRECT TO QUEENSTOWN

Queenstown, May 12.—Lord Wimborne, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, issued an order in Dublin tonight that hereafter any bodies of persons drowned on board the Lusitania found along the Irish coast shall be brought to Queenstown without the formality of an inquest in small towns, where they might happen to be landed. This order, it is believed here, should greatly expedite the identification of many bodies which it is expected will yet be found.

A fishing boat reported tonight having sighted no less than 100 bodies floating ten miles south of Glendore, which is situated on the southwest coast of County Cork, a fact which upsets the contention that the current, wind and tides had so scattered the bodies of victims as to make the recovery of any considerable number of them questionable. The news of the sighting of these bodies was conveyed to Webb Ware, secretary of Alfred G. Vanderbilt, who has been most vigilant in his search for Mr. Vanderbilt's body and is urging that no effort be spared to find the dead before it was too late.

Rain fell nearly all day in Queenstown making more difficult the work of identifying the bodies in the morgue and placing them in coffins.

Among the 21 bodies landed here today there were no prominent Americans. Petrell Stackhouse, brother of Lieutenant Commander J. Foster Stackhouse, arrived here today to try and find the body of the explorer, who was one of the victims of the Lusitania disaster.

ARREST OROZCO FOLLOWERS.

El Paso, May 12.—Nine Mexicans, followers of the Orozco revolution and supporters of the Huerta administration were arrested here tonight by agents of the United States department of justice and sent as prisoners in charge of American military authorities to Fort Bliss, Texas.

MATRIMONIAL

Thompson-Gallagher.
Wednesday evening at the pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gallagher of Woodson, the marriage of their daughter, Miss Adelia Ione and Maurice William Thompson took place.
The parlor was handsomely decorated with a color scheme of pink and white and looked very handsome. Shortly after seven o'clock the bridal pair entered the room preceded by Dr. G. W. Miller, who pronounced in an eloquent and impressive manner the words that made the pair before him husband and wife. The bride was becomingly arrayed in a dress of white marquisette with embroidered bodice and pink girdle and carried bride's roses. The twain stood under a beautiful arch during the ceremony. Just before the ceremony the bride's sister, Miss Meda, accompanied on the piano by Miss Ruth, sang most beautifully two selections, "I Love You Truly" and "Oh Promise Me". Then under the skillful touch of Miss Annabel Crawley of Jacksonville the familiar notes of Mendelssohn's wedding march pealed forth and to that the minister and bridal pair entered.

At the close of the ceremony congratulations many and hearty were bestowed on the ones soon to begin together the journey of life and if they have even a small part of the good things wished for them they will have an abundance of life's desires.

A delicious two-course luncheon was served and greatly enjoyed for every one knows the superior culinary skill of that household and the menu on that occasion was of the very best.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Thompson of South East street, this city, and is a worthy, industrious young man of excellent character and good standing in the community.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gallagher and is a young lady of fine character and accomplishments. She is a pupil in the Illinois Conservatory of Music and a musician of a high order, a winning and worthy young person.

Mr. Thompson carries on a farm near Berea belonging to his father and there the young people will go at once and begin the duties of life. A number of handsome presents testified the esteem in which they are held by their friends.

In cutting the wedding cake the dime was captured by Richard Pitner of White Hall; the thimble by Harry Goacher of White Hall; the wishbone by Miss Ethel Standridge of Ashland; the button by Miss Myra Sanders of Ashland; the ring by Miss Annabel Crawley of Jacksonville.

The guests from a distance were Misses Eulah and Glenna Bailey and Miss Ethel Standridge of Ashland; Mr. and Mrs. George W. Thompson and Miss Annabel Crawley of Jacksonville; Royal Pitner, Miss Myra Sanders and Harry Goacher of White Hall.

The young people begin life under pleasant auspices and will have the good wishes of a host of friends.

Featherstone-Smith.
The marriage of Mr. Laurin V. Featherstone of Greenfield and Miss Neelia M. Smith of Manchester took place Wednesday afternoon at the residence of Rev. Percy W. Stephens of the First Baptist church. A sister of the bride and cousin of the groom accompanied them to Jacksonville. They will reside on a farm near Greenfield where the groom is employed.

Hayden-Green.
The marriage of Ralph W. Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. Warrick Green of North Main street, and Miss Nellie Hayden, daughter of William Hayden, took place Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock, at the Church of Our Savior, Rev. J. W. Crowe officiating. The attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stringham. Both young people have many friends who will wish them a happy married life. The bride was formerly employed at the State School for the Blind and the groom is in the employ of the Gravel Springs company. They will make their home on Doolin avenue.

Misses Lillie and Eunice Harvey have returned from a visit of several days in Beardstown.

DARNELL CASE IS EXPECTED TO GO TO THE JURY TODAY AT NOON

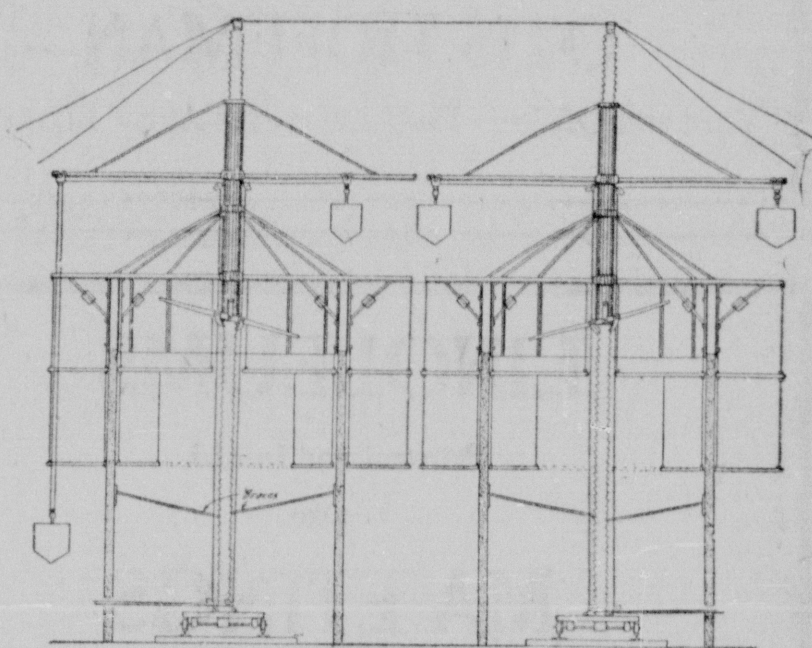

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 12.—The trial of James Morrison Darnell, accused of white slavery, came to a close today after the defense put three witnesses on the stand and the government two, followed by opening arguments by United States Attorney Guy D. Goff who in a scathing denunciation of the defendant, urged conviction and Henry P. Schmidt, consulting attorney for the defense, who while admitting Darnell's matrimonial escapades and applying the term "fool" to him, declared that the issue of white slavery did not exist in the case.

Darnell did not testify in his own behalf. It is expected that the case will go to the jury by tomorrow noon, following closing arguments by the prosecution and defense.

Jacksonville's Place In History; A Beautiful Tribute to the City

(By Ensley Moore.)

Member of Illinois State Historical Society.

In addition to being a member of the Illinois State Historical Association, Mr. Moore is a member of the Mississippi Valley Historical Association. It met May 26, 27 and 28, 1914 at Grand Forks, N. D. Mr. Moore was on the program to read a paper, but was unable to attend. His paper was published in the "Proceedings" of the association for 1913-14 and it has just lately come to hand. The article presented by Mr. Moore follows and is a splendid tribute to Jacksonville.

The State of Illinois was admitted to the Union in 1818. Morgan county received its first settlers in 1818, and was organized on the first Monday in March, 1823. Jacksonville, the county seat of Morgan county, which then included Cass and Scott counties, was laid out on March 10, 1825. This last act was, as I shall show, one of the most important in its influence upon the history of the coming state and of the great northwest. And by north-west is meant the region north and west of Illinois to the Canadian line and to the Rocky Mountains first, and ultimately to the Pacific Ocean.

The largest early immigration into Illinois and into the Sangamon country, in which Jacksonville was located, was from the southern states—notably Kentucky, Tennessee, and Virginia; and of the brightest, ablest and most ambitious of these alert Americans, Jacksonville received its full share, its settlers being largely from the south.

Joseph Duncan, from Kentucky, a hero of the War of 1812, and John J. Hardin, also from Kentucky, were two of the most prominent up-builders of Illinois, of Jacksonville, and of the regions beyond to the north and west. Both were subsequently members of Congress, and the latter was afterward Governor of Illinois. Hardin "gloriously fell on the field of Buena Vista, Mexico" along with his relatives, Colonels Clay and McKee.

In 1825 Jacksonville was like Jerusalem, "beautiful for situation," and so it yet remains. Its greatest ornament, Illinois college, crowns a hill which commands a magnificent view. But the Yankee, by which is meant a person from east of the Hudson, or of that ancestry in New York, was not slow in seeing the advantages of Jacksonville, or in helping to improve them. In fact two Kellogg brothers, "New York Yankees," were the first settlers of Morgan county. Then it was a race between natives of the south and of New England. The result was that, up to the time of the Civil War, Jacksonville was about half southern and half Yankee. The New Englanders were also of the ablest, brightest, and most ambitious of their section; and the battle for the development of a place of potential influence was on.

Our "ancient history" records that Murray McConnell "passed up the Illinois river to Peoria in 1819." He soon returned to what was to be Morgan county, near Jacksonville, and took part as a lawyer in the first meeting of the circuit court in Morgan county. Mr. McConnell was born in Orange county, New York, on September 5, 1798, and at the age of fourteen started into the far west to make his fortune.

John Millot Ellis was born in Keene, New Hampshire, on July 14, 1793, of Welsh parentage. Mr. Ellis was graduated from Dartmouth college in 1822. On the day on which he completed his seminary course, he was inspired by Elias Cornelius, an educator of that day, to "build up an institution of learning which should bless the west for all time." Mr. Ellis was graduated from Andover in September, 1825, and in November of that year, after a journey of six weeks, he reached Kaskaskia, then the capital of Illinois and the most important town. "Mr. Ellis was of that type of mind and from that stock of man, kind with whom it is an instinct to build colleges," and he was soon interested in plans for the establishment of what was then called a "seminary" in Illinois.

Mr. Ellis had become a member of the Presbytery of Missouri, which then included Illinois. St. Louis was at that time the largest town near the settled part of Illinois. Few people had then settled north of the present line of the Wabash railway. Mr. Ellis secured the appointment of a committee of Presbytery, consisting of himself and Elder Thos. Lippincott, afterwards a Presbyterian minister for many years. In January, 1828, they set out on a journey of investigation into the Sangamon country. Shoal Creek people, near Alton, had already made offers for an institution.

The explorers continued until they came to Jacksonville. At this point "so charming was the landscape, so rich the soil around and so enterprising the people who had settled there, that Mr. Ellis appears to have concluded at once that this was the place for a seminary in preference to other towns he visited. Within a few days with characteristic promptitude he purchased eighty acres of land and set the stakes for a building." Some money had already been subscribed, and the subscribers approved of the plans. Mr. Ellis then determined to move to Jacksonville in the summer of 1828. Mr. Ellis was at that time in the employ of the American Home Missionary Society, to which he wrote, in a report under date of September 25, 1828:

A seminary of learning is projected to go into operation next fall. The subscription now stands at $2,000 or $3,000. The site is in this county. The half quarter section purchased for it is certainly the most delightful spot I have ever seen. It is about one mile north of the celebrated Diamond Grove, and overlooks the town and country for several miles around. The object of the seminary is popular, and it is my deliberate opinion that there never was in our country a more promising opportunity to bestow a few thousand dollars in the cause of education and of missions.

The Presbytery Reporter of Alton in September, 1829, gives the following account:

Of this letter, as published in the Home Missionary, President Sturtevant says that it arrested the attention of the young men in the vicinity School at Yale College, and led to a correspondence between them and Mr. Ellis, and determined seven of them to a residence in Illinois and to aid in the building up of the college.

Having been sent to a meeting of the General Assembly, Mr. Ellis spent the summer of 1829 in the East. While there, he co-operated with this Yale Band in their efforts to raise ten thousand dollars which they had pledged, and was instrumental in the maturing of their plans. Two of them, Julian M. Sturtevant and Theodor Baldwin, arrived in Jacksonville in November, 1829, and instruction was begun by Mr. Sturtevant, on January 4, 1830 in what is now a part of Beecher Hall. The institution had been organized and named Illinois College, on motion of Judge Hall, an old settler and a trustee. Thus was founded the first great college west of Ohio.

It should be said that Mr. Ellis went on to help found Wabash college, Indiana. He also aided Marshall College, Michigan. After spending some time in the East in preaching, Mr. Ellis died at Nashua, New Hampshire, on August 6, 1855. At the time of his death he was engaged in arranging for a college in Nebraska.

The first class was graduated from Illinois college in 1835 and consisted of Jonathan E. Spilman and Richard Yates. The latter was to be the great War Governor of Illinois. At one time when plans to help the Union cause were under discussion, Lincoln said to his cabinet: "I have a plan to open the Mississippi river by a man named Grant, which Dick Yates sent me." You may recall that "a man named Grant" did open the Mississippi river, and by that time Richard Yates had sent Lincoln—not Grant's plan alone—but Grant himself. For it was this Kentucky boy, trained in Illinois college, who sent Ulysses S. Grant into the nation's service. After three long years of war "Dick" Yates's selection took command of all the armies and victory came in one short year. The Republic was saved not alone to the west and north-west, but to all the American people, and to all mankind. Lincoln knew Yates' fidelity, and he did not trust him in vain.

Illinois college gave to the west scores of ministers who went out to preach "the unsearchable riches of Christ Jesus." Neither time nor eternity can measure the yield to these reapers in the "fields white to the harvest." Those men not only gave their lives to saving souls in their home land, but some went as foreign missionaries, and at least one died upon the hot shores of the "dark continent." Illinois college also gave to her own state and to some of the northwest the first physicians educated in their profession within the state.

It was in the class of 1843 that Newton Bateman was graduated. He was destined to be the Nestor of teachers in the state, which in turn gave of her abundance to "the regions lying beyond." Young men and young women sprang full panoplied into the race of life educated for the work. It was not to the state alone that Bateman gave of his ripest years, though he made Knox college a power in the education of the young people of the northwest. And still earlier than Bateman, Dr. Wm. S. Curtis was prepared for the presidency of Knox college by "Old Illinois".

In the winter of 1832-1833, President Edward Beecher of Illinois college wrote to President Day of Yale, requesting him to send a teacher whom he could recommend, as a future professor. Mr. Day said that Jonathan B. Turner was "the man," and "Prof. Turner," of "Yale, '33," entered into his labors at Illinois college that year. If Jonathan B. Turner had only given his devotion to learning and his unyielding opposition to human slavery to the West, it would have been enough. But he discovered the practical use of the orange plant and hedged the fields of the west with thousands of miles of fencing. But "the grand old man" was not content with this material contribution to the riches of the west. It was he who through long years of unsuccessful effort kept toiling and speaking and writing until at last the states and nation heard his voice, and the Agricultural College—now called the State University—was created. Today all the northwest, as well as the country at large, may thank Illinois college for bringing Jonathan B. Turner into the west, and sending him out to better mankind by the establishment of universities in every state. Out in the cemetery, in "the celebrated Diamond Grove" of Mr. Ellis's day, lie the remains of this American giant who toiled for the millions, and "Turner" is all the name needed to mark the spot.

Women had small chance for education in this region before 1825, but a new day dawned for the women of the west when Frances Brard Ellis, wife of John M. Ellis, began in her own humble home the work of teaching girls and young women. Through her efforts there was organized in 1830 and chartered in 1835 the Jacksonville Female Academy, the first such institution in Illinois. For this woman's school not only the State of Illinois but the west as well must be ever grateful. Tragic beyond words was the death of Mrs. Ellis and her two children in that "cholera year" of 1833. All three died within forty-eight hours of each other.

Dr. Truman O. Douglass, a graduate of Illinois College in 1867, and secretary of the Congregational Home Missionary work in Iowa from 1882 to 1907, wrote a book a few years ago entitled "Pilgrims of Iowa," in which he refers to his denominational brethren. It is to be remembered that it was through Mr. Ellis's correspondence that the Yale Band of Illinois came out to the west. Among them was Asa Turner, brother of Professor J. B. Turner, who went first to Quincy, Illinois.

From Douglass's book we have the following: "One event," says Mr. Turner in his autobiography, "occurred that decided my future life. A band of students was formed for the purpose of going to Illinois and planting the institutions of learning and the gospel. I was invited to join them. I did so. J. M. Ellis, who had been sent by the American Home Missionary Society, was trying to plant an institution in Jacksonville. Correspondence with him led us to unite our efforts with his. The result was Illinois college. This shaped the whole course of my life after." The last year in the Seminary was taken up in this effort, and especially in raising means to plant the college." December 1, 1830, found Mr. Turner ministering to a church in Quincy, Illinois. As early as 1826 he began prospecting in Iowa, and in 1838 he became pastor of the church at Denmark, Iowa, where he continued for thirty years.

Reuben Gaylord came as a tutor to Illinois college in 1834, and remained for two and a half years. He, with six others at Yale, undertook to organize a Yale Band for Iowa. Although his efforts were in vain Gaylord came alone. Gaylord and Turner were the first Congregational ministers who settled in Iowa. Douglass calls these men "Patriarchs" in the church in Iowa. He speaks of Julius A. Reed as the third of these, and says that "he got his first taste of the west in a visit to his brother, Dr. M. N. Reed, of Jacksonville, Illinois." And so the good work went on and Jacksonville did service for Iowa as well as for Illinois.

The influence of good and great ministers is beyond estimate. Illinois college drew to Jacksonville and educated a young Tennesseean named Robert W. Patterson. He was graduated in 1837, became a Presbyterian clergyman, and as pastor of the Second Church of that denomination in Chicago spent most of a long and influential life. Another young man, who was drawn to Jacksonville by its religious and educational attractions, was the Rev. Truman M. Post, a member of the faculty for years, and for a still longer period a Congregational pastor in St. Louis. These were men of influence and power in their day.

Jacksonville had in its early citizenship men of fine business foresight and of great commercial activity and capability. Through them was brought about an era of material achievement in the west during the early part of the nineteenth century. They secured or assisted in the building of the first railroad north of the Ohio river and west of Pennsylvania. It was on November 8, 1833, that the first engine ran upon the "Northern Cross" railroad, now the Wabash, which was opened to Jacksonville in 1839 and to Springfield in 1842. This was the beginning of the railway construction of that portion of the west which lay north of the Ohio river, and it was the means of opening the farther west to settlement and occupation. Chicago had no western railroad until 1849.

Returning to the subject of public education, Governor Joseph Duncan was one of the earliest advocates of this beneficent work. A paper entitled Common School Advocate was published in Jacksonville at an early date. This was one of the first such papers in the west, if not the first. It was published by Ensley T. and Calvin Goudy. The inspiration of Jacksonville always influenced the Goudys. William C. and Calvin Goudy, one as state senator and the other as member of the lower house, were among the most influential in securing the establishment of the State Normal University.

The men and women of Jacksonville were among the earliest in the west to establish state charitable institutions, and those for the insane, deaf and dumb, and the blind were among their early accomplishments. The School for the Deaf was in fact a training school for the teachers and superintendents of other western and northwestern states.

ed the first governor of Dakota, which then included both North and South Dakota, he chose Dr. William Jayne, a graduate of Illinois college in 1847. In this capacity, Governor Jayne ruled over about four thousand whites and thirty thousand Indians. I am happy to say that the genial old man is still living in Springfield.

Citizens of Jacksonville, former students and graduates of Illinois college, and of the women's schools of Jacksonville, who have gone into the west and northwest as teachers, are to be numbered by the scores if not by the hundreds. Without effort I call to mind a classmate, Professor R. H. Beggs, in Denver, and another, Professor Carl Gordon in Spokane. Oakland, California, has a leading teacher from Illinois, and the State University of California has in its faculty a graduate of "Old Illinois".

"Murray McConnell passed up the Illinois in 1819," and afterward became a leading citizen of Jacksonville. He was a member of the legislature, a leading lawyer, a commissioner in building the first railroad which "blazed the track of empire westward," a general of militia, and an auditor of the United States treasury under President Pierce. By the help of his vote, Illinois was one of the first states to pass the amendment to the federal constitution abolishing slavery. But, in addition to these incidents from the life of General McConnell, he accomplished what was of more important and lasting effect upon the history of the state of the northwest, and of the nation. Of this I have written in another connection the following account:

A young man from New York state, but a native of Vermont, came into Jacksonville in the late fall of 1833. Jacksonville was then the guiding star of ambitious men venturing into "the far west." The town had a population of about 1,600 or 1,700 souls. The population of Morgan county—then including Cass and Scott—was about 15,000. Among these Stephen A. Douglas came, too small in size and weight to be noticeable. But, even then, strong enough to draw the attention and interest of persons of perception.

There have been many stories told since those faraway days of the first cholera year, of how and where this young stranger went, and found friends and a home. But many of the stories are apt to have grown with the development of their hero, the "Little Giant."

The first and kindest and wisest friend that stripling from Vermont found in Illinois was Murray McConnell. By his advice Douglas did the things which eventuated in his becoming a citizen of Jacksonville, an organizer of the Democratic party in Illinois, a secretary of state of Illinois, a member of the legislature from Jacksonville, a judge of the Supreme Court of the state, a member of congress, a United States senator, a controller of the national Democratic party, a candidate for president, whereby Abraham Lincoln was elected; and at last,

"When war winged its wide desolation,

And threatened the land to deform,"

Stephen A. Douglas, patriot and statesman, no doubt saved Illinois from civil war within its own borders, and, next to Abraham Lincoln and U. S. Grant, probably did more than any one else to save the Republic. All this came about in part, through the kindly and wise act of Murray McConnell, in befriending a poor young man "in a strange land."

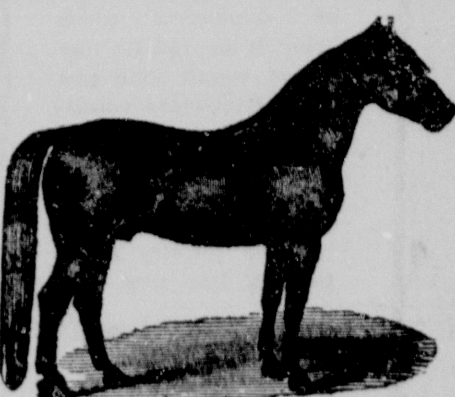

Time and space forbid a longer reference to the splendid things which have resulted from the influence of Jacksonville and of Illinois college. But one can not refrain from calling the attention of this association to the fact that it was Stephen A. Douglas who valiantly stood against the surrender of our great northwest, now styled "The Inland Empire," and the lands beside the far Pacific to the land-grabbing instinct and clutch of Great Britain. It was Stephen A. Douglas who saw the possibilities of the great middle west, and carved out the territories of Kansas and Nebraska, the latter including what is today North and South Dakota.

So the humble Christian minister, the ambitious college teacher, and the more ambitious young politician, each contributed a portion of that influence which made Jacksonville largely the civilizer of the west.

GOOD AND EVIL

The poet got his facts awry, concerning what lives after death; the good men do lives on for aye, the evil passes like a breath. A noble thought, by thinker thunk, will live and flourish through the years; a thought ignoble goes kerplunk, to perish in a pool of tears. Man dies, and folks around his bed behold his tranquil, outworn clay, "We'll speak no evil of the dead, but recollect the good," they say. Then one recalls some noble trait which figured in the life-old gent. "He fixed the Widow Johnsing's gate, and wouldn't charge a doggone cent." "Oh, he was grand when folks were ill; he'd stay and nurse them night and day, and hand them the bolus and the pill, and never hint around for pay." "He ran three blocks to catch my wit when April weather was at large." "He butchered Mrs. Jagway's pig, and smoked the hams, and didn't charge." Thus men conspire, to place on file and make a record of the good, and they'd forget the mean or vile for which, perhaps, in life you stood. The shining heroes we admire had faults and vices just like you; when they concluded to expire, their fallings kicked the bucket, too.

EUROPEAN WAR NOTES

Geneva, Switzerland, Via Paris, May 12.—(4 p. m.)—The Austrian government has issued an order that all Austrian ships in Italian waters proceed at once to Trieste or Pola.

London, May 12.—(8:35 p. m.)—An official communication giving a report of field Marshal Sir John French, dated May 12th was issued tonight as follows:
"East of Ypres last evening we repulsed another German attack south of the Menin road. This was the third costly failure experienced by the Germans at this place yesterday. Elsewhere along the front there is no change in the situation."

Paris, May 12.—(10:23 p. m.)—The following official communication was issued tonight: The fighting to the north of Arras continues with extreme violence. During the course of last night the enemy reinforced delivered several counter attacks, which, however, were without result.

"In that directed against Neuville-St. Vaast our opponents suffered particularly heavy losses. We found in the cemetery alone more than 200 bodies of Germans and we took about 100 prisoners.

"A second attack between Carey and Ablain was likewise repulsed. A third, from the direction of Ablain, was completely checked.

"This morning we made progress in the wood to the east of Carey, taking 125 prisoners. The progress continued in the afternoon. We have besides taken three successive lines of trenches bordering the wood to the north of Carey, after which we penetrated the wood, thus threatening very closely the last line of communication which remains open to the defenders of that position.

"Finally we have taken a new part of the village capturing there 400 prisoners. In the afternoon we attacked that section of Neuville-St. Vaast which the enemy still holds and fighting in streets gave us the mastery of several groups of houses. Our progress here continues.

"The total number of prisoners made by us since Sunday had reached this evening four thousand. On the rest of the front we brought to a sudden halt by our fire three German attacks near Berry-au-Bac, Beaumont and Mari-Therese-Bagatelle."

When Glands Swell Blood Needs Attention

Even a Sweat Gland May Result in Severe Consequence.

In our intricate body the use of S. S. S. for the blood has a most remarkable influence. We little realize our glandular system. It may be a tiny bulb no bigger than a pin point, and yet if a disease germ gets into it, there is a tremendous swelling. It becomes a boil, a carbuncle, it may be a "blood rising," and it is often a source of continuous misery if not checked. Many of the most excruciating forms of torture begin with the swelling of a tiny gland, caused by a disease germ. And it is S. S. S. that spreads throughout the blood circulation to prevent just such conditions. Or if they have already started, S. S. S. will soon put the blood in such a state of health as to overcome the tendency to glandular swellings. It is a natural medicine for the blood, just as essential to health as the blood is impure, as are the meats, fats, grains and sugars of our daily food.

It contains one ingredient the active purpose of which is to stimulate the exchange of new flesh for dead or waste matter.

Get a bottle of S. S. S. today of any druggist, and if your case is stubborn write to the Medical Adviser, The Swift Specific Co., 108 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. This department is in charge of a noted physician.

SOAP IS BAD FOR THE HAIR

Soap should be used very sparingly, if at all, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary unscented coconut oil (which is pure and greaseless), is cheaper and better than soap or anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get purified coconut oil at any pharmacy, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

SAVING THE PLAY

Actors Are Often Called Upon to Exercise Quick Wit.

SOME CURIOUS EXPERIENCES.

Rose Eyttinge Once Extemporized the Entire Part of Lady Isabel in "East Lynne"—How John Brougham Made a Hit Without His Leading Lady.

Quick wit has saved many an embarrassing situation, turned many a seemingly disastrous failure into success. Politics, literature, courtesy, all are served by quick tongue and ready word.

Actors, as well as business men, have special use for quick wit, so often do they need help out of a difficulty during the play. A college performance was saved from wreckage by one of the young actors.

One of the cast, a boy easily upset, had just given his line, "All I need is an advertisement," when half of his stage mustache fell off.

"Oh, no," said the ready youth beside him, seeing his embarrassment; "what you need is a hair restorer."

And under cover of the laughter the victim had a chance to recover himself.

It was surely the same readiness that enabled Rose Eyttinge to go through one of the most extraordinary experiences any actress ever had. In San Francisco she was once asked to fill Mary Anderson's place at short notice, appearing with the local stock company. The play was to be "East Lynne." By singular chance, no prompt book could be found, nor could they secure a copy of the novel. Miss Eyttinge protested that it would be impossible for her to play, as she had never so much as seen the piece. That fact they refused to believe. More over, to add to her difficulty, though all the company claimed to know the old drama backward, no one seemed to have an idea of the lines she, as Lady Isabel, would have to speak.

"Oh, that'll be all right," said John McCullough, the manager, to whom she appealed. "Just you sob and look sorry, and it will go."

So Miss Eyttinge, rather than cause the loss of closing the theater, went on totally unprepared to act in an absolutely unfamiliar play.

Tom Keene, the Archibald Carlisle, instructed her in the proper emotion from scene to scene. "Now she's a jealous cat, a jealous cat," he would whisper. "Now she's kittens." "Now she's sorry she was such a fool." "Now she wants her young ones." "Now she up and dies."

The performance seemed to cause entire satisfaction to the audience, and McCullough, as he generously handed over half the receipts to the heroine of the hour, declared, "Well, you may have had to vamp that part, but I've often seen it played with less soul."

The story of an experience demanding similar readiness of wit is told of John Brougham, the early American comedian and playwright. On one occasion, when his own clever burlesque, "Pocahontas," had been billed and the house sold out in advance, the leading actress left without warning to take another position in Baltimore. The audience had assembled before her absence was discovered by the manager and star. As it was that play or nothing, Brougham, who was famed for his witty impromptu speeches, went before the curtain and suggested giving the piece without Pocahontas. He recalled the old story of the actor who played Hamlet so exuberantly that on the following night the tragedy was given with that character omitted by request.

"Now, if 'Hamlet' can be acted without the hero," he remarked, "why not 'Pocahontas' without the heroine? Of course you are all aware of the fact that 'Pocahontas' is a much greater play than 'Hamlet.' Even if you do not know that, I do, and I ought to, for I wrote it myself. Are you willing to try it?"

"Go ahead!" came the cries from the audience, who settled themselves back to see the result.

The burlesque proceeded as usual until the entrance music was played for Pocahontas; then, turning toward the audience, Brougham, as Powhatan, sadly began: "Ladies and gentlemen, that sweet strain is supposed to bring my daughter Pocahontas on the stage. You are already aware that she is in the city of Baltimore, and the stern law of the land will not permit a Christian, much less a savage, to be in two places at once. Thus does the law protect that most useful instrument, the alibi. However, if Poky were here she would hasten to say"—Whereupon the comedian gave her lines in exact imitation of the missing actress, keeping up the dialogue in two persons all through the play. The delighted people who were fortunate enough to be present declared that Brougham was avenged.

G. P. Huntley tells of an incident that took place at an east side theater in London. The "gods" were booing the piece and throwing chunks of bread at the performers.

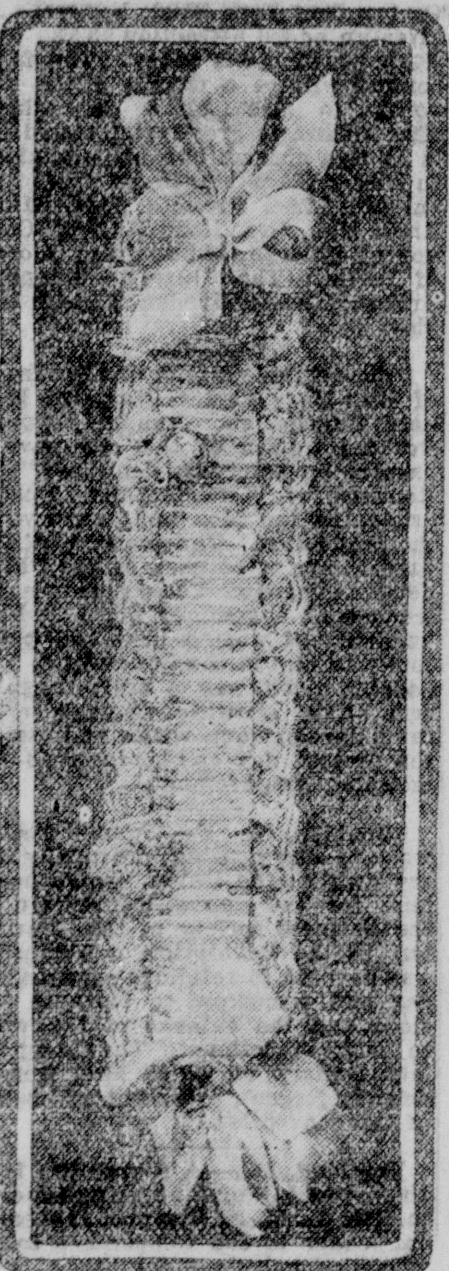

At last the star came forward and said: "Now, look here! We're trying our best to amuse you. Throw bread, if you like; but," he added as he stopped and picked up a chunk, "thank heaven I'm not too proud to eat it."

The gods were vanquished.—Anna Bird Stewart in New York Tribune.

Labor conquers all things. It is idleness that is the curse of man—not labor. Nothing is impossible to industry.—Motto of Perlander.

FOR BABY'S CARRIAGE.

Dainty Handmade Band to Take the Place of the Leather One.

BAND FOR BABY'S CARRIAGE.

The accessories for the perambulator, the little carriage in which baby takes his airing, should always be as dainty as possible. The little pillows may be lace trimmed or hand embroidered. The coverlet may match these or carry out some other design.

The strap that keeps the little tot from falling out may also be hand made. All these pretty things may be fashioned at home. The shops where they are sold charge very high prices for most of them.

The carriage strap illustrated here is of wide satin ribbon, neatly gathered and lined with a plain piece of the satin ribbon of a paler shade. The edges are trimmed with frills of Valenciennes lace.

Clusters of satin ribbon rosebuds are knotted along the length of the band, while the ends of the band are finished with coquettish knots of narrow ribbon. A little sachet powder sprinkled inside of the band before the two pieces of ribbon are fastened together will add to its daintiness.

SUMPTUOUS COSTUMES.

Evening Gowns of Rich and Dazzling Fabrics Interspersed With Pearls.

For afternoon and evening gowns Paris has advised a figure hung in garments as dazzling and sumptuous as those of a Byzantine princess. These rich materials refute any possibility of a country undergoing "hard times." Ropes and trimmings of pearls, crystal and rhinestone rival jet and naere or the new mother-of-pearl.

The ball gown of winter is to be conceived in mouseline perle. The interwoven beads of the bodice material are so heavy that they cause the silk to droop in deep folds, which are caught at the center by narrow straps. The underdress, entraine, is made of heavy net, interwoven with silver threads and pearls, and the overdress is trimmed with appliques of silver embroidery.

WRAPS OF THE SEASON.

Corduroy and golf cord are among the favorite corded fabrics. Bedford cord is very desirable for heavy things, like waistcoats in capes and coats.

If you have an old lace shawl packed away in a cedar chest bring it to light. You may wear it in capelike fashion with your white or other evening frocks.

One of the prettiest of the new capes is a raven's wing silk that reaches the hem of the gown, falling in long, straight folds and gathered into an upstanding frill around the neck.

A cape of knitted wool, attached by snaps to a sleeveless wool waistcoat, is a novelty that is attracting a good deal of attention among people who like a light weight but warm and compact wrap for outdoor sports.

Some of the sweaters being displayed in the shops recall the jerseys of thirty and more years ago. Like those of the past, they extend well down over the hips and button straight up the front with self covered buttons.

So far many of the coats shown button rather snugly about the throat. One heavy coat of mixed black and gray, in a soft, thick cloth, shows a wrinkled collar of black velvet, and the fur collars fold close about the neck.

MR. COLLINS ADDRESSED CIVIC LEAGUE SESSION

SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS
DISCUSSED RECENT CHANGES IN SYSTEM.

Teachers Salary Plan Explained—
Declares Most of the Changes
Were Necessitated for Economy or to Accord With State and College Requirements.

At the meeting of the Civic League held Wednesday afternoon at the public library Supt. Collins of the city schools was the speaker. Before Mr. Collins was introduced and made his address, several matters of routine business were given attention by the league, and Mrs. J. H. Danskin, the president, then presented a resolution assuring the president of the United States the hearty sympathy and support of the organization in the present time of stress. The resolution, which is printed below, was passed by unanimous vote and will be forwarded at once to the president's secretary.

The special intent of Mr. Collins' remarks was to make clear something about the purposes behind the changes which were recently included in the action taken by the board of education. The changes related particularly to teachers' preparation and salaries. The whole teaching force being divided into three classes and a schedule of salaries agreed upon which provides certain increases from year to year. The range of salaries for teachers of the first class, from the first to the sixth grade, is $50 to $70; for the second class, that is, the seventh and eighth grades, the range is $65 to $85; the third class includes the teachers in the high school, special teachers, principals and the assistant high school principal and the salaries therein range from $75 to $133.

Mr. Collins explained that many of the changes made by the board were occasioned by the necessity that exists for a lessening of the expenses of operation. He said that the total funds available from general taxation would be about $62,000, while the salary schedule alone for the year on the basis of the proposed plan and with the previous position arrangement, would consume a sum larger than this amount. The superintendent also made it clear that some of the changes were not simply brought about by a desire on the part of the board for such changes, but to meet the demands of certain state legislation and also the demands made by the University of Illinois high school visitor, and still other demands on the part of colleges.

In fixing the new salary schedule Mr. Collins said that letters of inquiry had been sent to more than forty cities and that the salaries paid here under the new schedule are in excess of those paid in a great many other cities even of this size. Reference was made to the new order which provides that principals shall devote one-half of their time to teaching work, and Mr. Collins said that he believed with this arrangement in connection with the work of the supervising teachers would not mean any more arduous duties for the principals. He said, too, that the plan of having a substitute teacher work half of the time under the direction of the principals would mean a great deal of valuable training for the substitutes, where under the present plan in switching about from place to place, that the training is very much at a disadvantage.

Supervising Teacher's Work.

Miss Lusk, as the supervising teacher, he said would not attend to the business or discipline of the schools, but it would be her particular work to look into the books and courses and to keep in touch with advances and developments and be in position to suggest text books or courses or to keep in touch with courses or anything else in her opinion desirable for the work of the grades. Mr. Collins referred to the change made for Miss White, stating that the salary she is to be paid as principal of the fourth ward is just the same as in the position she has been holding, and that she will have just as many pupils under her direction. Further, he said that this arrangement might be only temporary, as it was made at this time in the interest of economy, and that another year there might be a larger amount available for school purposes. He said that for the purpose of economy that the board had would the duties of the coach to those of the science teacher—that this was not the most desirable plan but the best that could be done under existing conditions. He referred to the work of Miss Brown and said it was necessary for her both to teach and do supervising work and that this was done because of the impossibility of making any better arrangement. He said that her salary is not less than is paid in cities of the same size for the kind of work she is to do.

Then Mr. Collins explained the provisions as to teachers' certificates, to which he said there had been some objection. He pointed out that while the provision might not accord exactly with the wishes of teachers, that the provision was made strictly in accord with the state law. Still other matters mentioned in the salary schedule adopted were gone into with the end in view of having the teachers and others present understand the exact conditions.

Salary Schedules.
The detailed increase figures mentioned by Mr. Collins for the three classes of teachers provided are as follows: first class: first year, $50; second year, $53; third year, $56; fourth year, $59; fifth year, $62;

6th year $65; 7th year $68; 8th year $70. The schedule for teacher of the second class is: first year, $65; second year, $69; third year, $73; fourth year, $77; fifth year, $81; sixth year, $85. The teachers of the third class are to be paid as follows: first year, $75; second year, $82; third year, $85; fourth year, $89; fifth year, $91; sixth year, $97; seventh year, $103; eighth year, $107; ninth year, $113; tenth year, $119; eleventh year, $125; twelfth year, $131; thirteenth year, $133. Provided that nothing herein stated shall be construed so as to prohibit the board to use its discretion in paying such additional sums as it deems proper for supervising or special work and provided further that in no case shall the said board pay any teacher for teaching and supervising or teaching and special work a sum to exceed $1,400.

Brief mention was made by the superintendent of the movement to secure the operation of the general school war in Jacksonville and he said that in event of its adoption that while this system of teachers and salaries would be changed.

The Resolution.

The resolution adopted was as follows:

The Woman's Civic League of Jacksonville desires to go on record as expressing confidence in the president of the United States, in this time of great stress and excitement of the public mind.

We wish to go on record as standing by our President, believing that he will choose the wise and patriotic course in the present crisis, that which will be for the good of our nation and the world in general. We desire that a copy of this resolution be sent by the Secretary to President Wilson.

LOST GEMS OF ART

Many Famous Paintings Have Mysteriously Vanished.

WORKS OF THE OLD MASTERS.

Hundreds of Portraits by Reynolds Are Among the Missing Treasures, Besides Masterpieces of Correggio, Titian, da Vinci and Others.

There are many famous paintings by the old masters that have mysteriously vanished. They are known to have been painted, but their whereabouts has been an enigma for several hundred years.

From time to time lost pictures come again to the knowledge of the world, as when the original of the Dulwich Velasquez, the "Philip IV," was found in a Polish nobleman's castle; when the portrait of Isabel de Valois, King Philip II's third wife, by Coello—the original of that by Pantoja de la Cruz in the Prado—was finally identified at the Grafton gallery, to which the Countess of Baroda had lent it; when Titian's "Perseus and Andromeda" was found by Sir Claude Phillips in the bathroom of Hertford House, and Botticelli's "Pallas and the Centaur" was identified by an English critic, forgotten and unnoticed in an obscure place in the Uffizi gallery—a queer place to lose a picture in.

It is declared that no fewer than 400 portraits by Sir Joshua Reynolds have disappeared. The historians of art—the "Anonimo," Vassari and many another—speak with admiration of pictures so innumerable which have passed into the limbo of the unknown that the announcement of a discovery is rarely treated with absolute skepticism, even in the case of the greatest masters. There is plenty of room for the appearance of a number of early works by Velasquez—de Bernete gives a list of them—but especially the portrait of Fonseca, which gave to Velasquez his footing in Madrid, and more particularly the equestrian portrait of Philip IV, which placed him so quickly upon the pedestal.

Or take Correggio. There is the picture of "The Savior," a copy of which hangs in the Prado. There is the "Resurrection in Egypt," the "Herodias" triptych, the "St. Bartholomew," the "Young Man Fleeing from the Captors of Christ," "The Birth of Venus" and "St. Mary Magdalen" and others besides—all lost.

And Titian (a group of whose masterpieces were burned in a great English country house), where on earth is his portrait of Isabella Gonzaga and her son, which is known to us through the copy by Pordenone? Giorgione also. He is so rare a master—rare alike as to numbers and to quality—that the recovery of his "Birth of Venus" would be an event of the very highest importance in the world of art. The Anonimo speaks of it, but since his day no other writer, so far as experts are aware, has ever set eyes on it.

Although we have so many hundred canvases of that amazing genius, Rubens, the loss of a picture such as his "Cambyse and the Judge" is a distinct deprivation, inasmuch as it is said to have been one of his finest efforts. It was painted in 1623 for the magistrates' hall in the town hall of Brussels, and no less than 3,000 florins was paid for it.

We might spare, perhaps, the "Head of Christ," by Andrea del Sarto (painted in 1524), for similar works of his exist, but it is otherwise with his "Visitation" of the same year, if only because Andrea was a painter of greatest importance, historically considered—he who broke away entirely from Gothic rigidity and introduced a sentiment and a delightful sense of gaiety and sweetness that brought art home to hearts untouched by the earlier dignity and gravity which they felt oppressive.

The portraits of Terburg, again, are a delight, and a host of them exist (including not a few not unworthy of him, but really by the hand of his pupils, Koets, yet we cannot read without regret the list of them, as well as of his exquisite subject pictures, which M. Hofstede de Groot's researches have enabled us to make. We may even regard with relative equanimity the disappearance of Nicholas Poussin's "Rinaldo and Armida." But on quite another plane is the mystery of the portraits which Leonardo da Vinci painted for Ludovico Sforza and which vanished into thin air as completely as his "Mona Lisa" a couple of years ago.

The found lady re-emerged in the light of day, but the Ludovico portraits are practically beyond hope—unless perchance even now, unsuspected of their identity, they are decorating the upper corridors of some great house (mines of unexplored wealth) or the back storerooms of minor dealers.—New York Press.

Caesar Used Elephants in Britain. Tradition has it that Caesar brought elephants with him to Britain and that they contributed to his conquest of the island. Having unsuccessfully attempted to cross the Thames, Caesar built a large turret on an elephant and, loading it with bowmen and slingers, ordered them to pass the stream, whereupon the Britons, terrified at the sight of the unknown monster, fled in confusion.—London Chronicle.

Through want of enterprise and faith men are where they are—buying and selling and spending their lives like serfs.—Thoreau.

CLAIMS GOV'T. USED STRONG ARM METHODS

Washington, May 11—Secretary Franklin K. Lane of the Department of the Interior, has been ordered by the District Supreme Court to show cause why a mandamus should not be issued to restore to office William E. Arant of Klamath Falls, Ore., formerly superintendent of the Crater Lake National Park in Oregon. The court proceedings were brought by Arant, who claims he was illegally ousted from his position, and that the U. S. marshal for Oregon "violently and with force of arms" seized Arant and removed him from office. The right of cabinet officers to remove government employees in the classified civil service is questioned by Arant. He seeks a mandamus to compel Secretary Lane to restore him to his position. From which he was removed June 28, 1913. He had held the job for eleven years. At the time of the removal, the petitioner claims, he was held and recognized by the civil service commission to be a person in the classified service, and by act of 1912, congress provided that no person in the classified service should be removed unless charges in writing were formally made against him and an opportunity afforded to answer personally the charges. That no such charge was ever made against him, is the claim of Arant, who says the first intimation that reached him was a request for his resignation. That he protested in vain, and was forcibly ousted by the marshal with his posse and that his family was driven from the superintendent's headquarters in the park, is also claimed by Arant.

WOMEN IN THE NEWS.

Syracuse, N. Y.—The announcement that Miss Margaret Wilson, daughter of the President, will sing on Wednesday, the final day of the Central New York Music Festival has given an added attraction to the festival, which opens today. The final concert will be a charity affair, devoted to the blind in whom Miss Wilson is greatly interested. It is at this concert she has promised to sing. Other singers at the festival are Mme. Frances Alda, Mme. Anita Rio, Mrs. Rose Rutiger Gannon of Chicago, Mme. Grace Fjorde of Berlin. The Chicago Symphony Orchestra, under Frederick Stock will play.

Philadelphia—Under the guidance of Miss Mary Porter Beagle of Barnard college, six hundred young working women of this city gave a pageant on Saturday, depicting "The Romance of Work." Miss Beagle originated the idea and supervised the production. The proceeds of the pageant are to be used by the Philadelphia Vacation Society in maintenance of a summer home where hundreds of women have an opportunity to rest in the hot months. The pageant itself was a truly magnificent affair, showing woman's work in its development, with a climax on the present day co-operation as the crowning achievement.

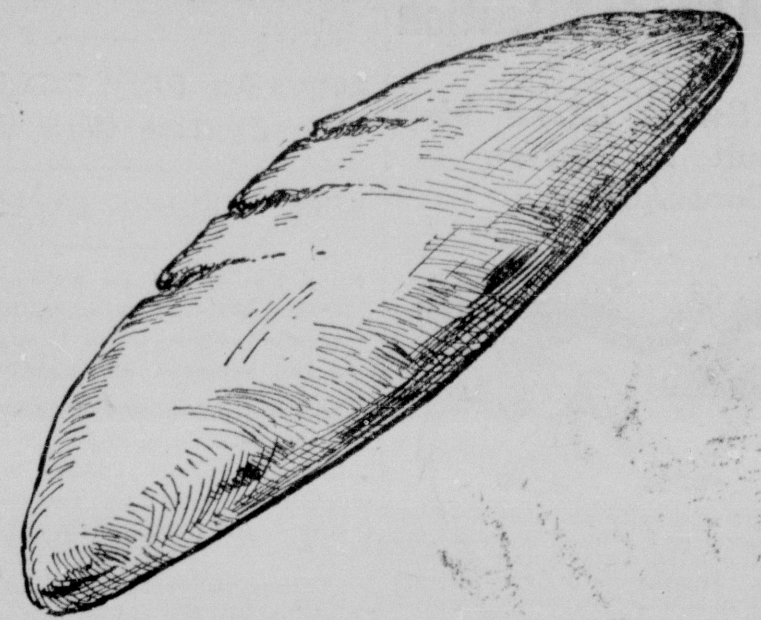

Brooklyn, N. Y.—Four hundred women, representing practically every state in the Union, are gathered here for the annual convention of the National society of the Daughters of the Revolution. Yesterday was devoted to religious services, to day and tomorrow to business sessions and the balance of the week to social functions. The Long Island Society, of which Mrs. Don C. Seitz is Regent, is acting as hosts of the convention.

Portland, Me.—A foundation is to be erected in Portland as a memorial to Mrs. L. M. N. Stevens, the eminent leader in the temperance cause, who died a little more than a year ago. The fountain is to be a replica of the one erected in Chicago in memory of Francis E. Willard. The work will be in bronze, with a granite base. The design represents a child holding a cup in which are the bubbles for drinking. The fund for the fountain was raised by the members of the Women's Christian Temperance Union.

Boston—That a man's brains are but one forty-third of his bulk, while a woman's are one fortieth of hers, is the statement of Dr. Elmer Southard at the Harvard Medical school. "Women have more brains per volume than men" he concluded "and four hard-headed men have collaborated with me on these dates." The statistics related to American men and women. Although the men's brains weighed slightly more, the relation to their bulk was less.

Denver—Frisking about the dewy grass on the top of a Colorado mountain, as barelegged nymphs and sprites a group of college girls from Smith College, Northampton, Mass., will this summer get back to nature. The girls are athletic dancers, and they long for the life that is free and simple, uncontrolled by the modern conventions of dress. The college girls plan to live as did the Helenes on the shores of the sparkling Aegean Sea centuries ago. Led by Miss Portia M. Sweet, a graduate in the class of 1910, they hope to find perfect freedom of body and spirit in the out-of-the-way mountains.

Mrs. Charles Mathews and daughter Nellie visited the city yesterday from the northeast part of the county.

ONLY the best materials are used in making our fine bread. That is why we are selling so much of it. Suppose you try our bread for a month and see if it isn't the best you ever had.

WORLD'S MARKET NEWS

WHEAT HOLDERS INDULGE IN PROFIT-TAKING ON LARGE SCALE

Complaints of Dry Weather in North Dakota Helps the Bulls to Rally the Market to Some Extent as the Session Neared an End.

Chicago, May 12.—After many rapid changes of price today the wheat trade appeared to be governed chiefly by belief that alarming reports of crop damage in the Hessian fly districts had been exaggerated. The market closed unsettled at 3c to 3c under last night. Corn finished 3c to 3c down; oats 3c off to 3c up and provisions with declines of 5c to 20c.

At first the course of the wheat market, a swift succession of breaks and bulges, seemed to reflect more or less the uncertainty of dealers regarding chances that the United States would break off relations with Germany. Attention soon centered, however, on the question of the extent of insect injury to the growing domestic crop. Differences of opinion on this subject were made apart for awhile but gradually the general feeling became clearly less bullish. Despite higher cables and big export clearances, the tendency toward a buying stampede disappeared and holders indulged in profit-taking on a large scale. Complaints of dry weather in North Dakota helped the bulls to rally the wheat market to some extent as the session neared an end. There were also late reports that foreign demand for cash wheat at the seaboard. Corn showed more continued heaviness than was the case with wheat. Favorable weather both in this country and in Argentina led to considerable selling. Oats were sustained by demand from cash houses. The May option especially was in demand.

TAFT OUTLINES PLAN FOR LEAGUE OF PEACE

ADDRESSES WORLD'S COURT
CONGRESS AT CLEVELAND.

Explains That Such a League Should Include All the Great Nations—Points Out Practicality of Such an International Tribunal.

Cleveland, O., May 12.—Former President Wm. Howard Taft speaking at the World's Court Congress tonight outlined his plan for the establishment of a league of peace and an arbitral court, with the object of settling by arbitration differences between the nations of the world and preventing further wars. Such a league should include all the great nations, Mr. Taft explained, with an agreement that should any signatory power begin war against another member without first submitting its grievance to the court all the other signatories would be bound to join in a forcible defense of members thus prematurely attacked.

Explains Methods.

That this idea of an international tribunal is practical and feasible, Mr. Taft said, is shown by the successful operation of the constitutional courts of arbitration in this country which have settled controversies between the states, and so-called general arbitration treaties, negotiated by Philander C. Knox, while secretary of state, with France and England, to submit justiciable dispates to arbitration. Mr. Taft explained at length the methods employed in adjusting interstate differences, asserting that the procedure is analogous to that of the international court which he proposes.

"I am aware that membership in this league would involve on the part of the United States an obligation to take part in European and Asiatic wars," he said, "and that in this respect it would be a departure from the traditional policy of the United States in avoiding entangling alliances with European or Asiatic countries. But I conceive that the interest of the United States in the close relations it has of a business and social character with the other countries of the world, much closer now than ever before, would justify it, if such a league could be formed, running the risk that there might be of such a war in making more probable the securing of the inestimable boon of peace of the world that now seems so far away."

Mr. Taft also pointed out in support of his plan the amicable settlement of issues between the people of the United States and Canada, "which because of their nature might have led to war."

"It is not too much to say," he added, "that the 'habit' of arbitration is so fixed that a treaty to secure such a settlement in future issues would not make it more certain than it is. It is interesting to note that we now have two permanent arbitral English-American commissions settling questions."

Do Not Need All Nations.

"To constitute an effective league of peace we do not need all the nations. Such an agreement between eight or nine of the great powers of Europe, Asia and America would furnish a useful restraint upon possible war. The successful establishment of a peace league between the great powers would draw into it very quickly the less powerful nations.

"What should be the fundamental plan of the league?"

"In the first place it ought to provide for the formation of a court which would be given jurisdiction by the consent of all the members of the league to consider and decide justiciable questions between them, or any of them, which have not yielded to negotiations according to the principles of international law and equity so that the court should be vested with power, upon the application of any member of the league, to decide the issue as to whether the question arising is justiciable."

"Second, a commission of conciliation for the consideration and recommendation of a solution of all non-justiciable questions that may arise between the members of the league should be created, and this commission should have power to hear evidence, investigate the causes of differences, and mediate between the parties and then make its recommendations for a settlement."

"Third: Conferences should be held from time to time to agree upon principles of international law, not already established, as their necessity shall suggest themselves. When the conclusions of the commission shall have been submitted to the various parties to the league for a reasonable time, say a year, without calling forth objection, it shall be deemed that they acquiesce in the principles thus declared."

"Fourth: The members of the league shall agree that if any member of the league, without first having submitted the question, if found justiciable to the arbitral court provided in the fundamental compact or without submitted the question if found non-justiciable to the commission of conciliation and recommendation, then the remaining members of the league agree to join in the forcible defense of the members thus prematurely attacked."

Mr. Taft said that the principle of the general arbitration treaties with England and France should be embraced in an effective league of peace.

Should Provide a Commission.

"We must recognize however that the question within the jurisdiction of such a court would certainly not include all the questions that might lead to war, and therefore, we should provide some other instrumentality for helping the solution of those questions which are non-justiciable. This might well be a commission of conciliation, to investigate the facts and to formulate and recommend a settlement. We have an example of such a commission of conciliation in the controversy between the United States and Great Britain over the seal fisheries. "Undoubtedly the function of an arbitral court, established as proposed in the first of the above suggestions, would lead to a good deal of valuable judgment in international law. But that would not cover the whole field. Something in the nature of legislation on the subject would be a valuable supplement to international law."

"It is to be observed that the fourth suggestion does not involve the members of the league in an obligation to enforce the judgment of the court or of the recommendations of the commission of conciliation. It only furnishes the instrumentality of force to prevent attack without submission. The required submission and the delay incident thereto, will in most cases, lead to acquiescence in the judgment of the court or in the recommendation of the commission of conciliation. The threat of force against plainly unjust war, for that is what is involved in the provision, will have a most salutary deterrent effect."

FUNERAL NOTICES.

DISTRICT FEDERATION WILL GO TO VIRGINIA

CLUB WOMEN CLOSE SUCCESS-FUL SESSION IN PITTSFIELD.

Fifteenth Annual Meeting of 20th District Women is Full of Interest—Three Jacksonville Women Appear in Public Health Symposium—Mrs. A. J. Ward is Elected County Vice President.

Virginia was selected as the next place of meeting at the business session of the Illinois Federation of Woman's Clubs, Twentieth Congressional District, Wednesday morning, assembled in the Christian church at Pittsfield for their fifteenth annual meeting. A feature of the second day was the symposium on public health in which Mrs. A. L. Adams, Miss Katherine Olmsted and Miss Annie Hinrichsen took part. At the election Wednesday forenoon Mrs. A. J. Ward was selected in place of Mrs. J. K. C. Pierson as vice president for Morgan county.

Miss Ada M. Glenn of Ashland has just completed her first year of a two-year term and will thus be in office until 1916. Miss Glenn is official vice president in the state organization. Mrs. C. E. Smoot, vice president of the district, holds over also as do the following vice presidents: Brown, Mrs. John D. Counts; Mrs. Sterling; Cass, Mrs. Henry Hunt, Virginia; Calhoun, Miss Lizzie Greathouse Harding; Greene, Mrs. Jacob Dohm, Greenfield; Jersey, Mrs. Leonard Cutting, Jerseyville.

New officers selected follow: Recording Secretary, Mrs. Lee Skiles, Virginia; corresponding secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Virgil Robertson, Virginia.

The following county vice-presidents, representing five of the ten counties in the district, were elected Wednesday morning: Menard, Mrs. Gaines Green, Petersburg; Mason, Mrs. W. A. Stule, Havana; Morgan, Mrs. A. J. Ward, Jacksonville; Pike, Mrs. J. D. Hess, Pittsfield; Scott, Mrs. E. J. Frost, Winchester.

It is most probable that the various department chairmen, being officers appointive by the president, will remain the same as they have been the past year.

Mrs. Helen Brown Read of Jacksonville, with Mrs. Helen Ayers Bullard also of Jacksonville, at the piano, appeared twice on the program, giving an extensive and exceedingly varied series of voice selections. Particularly enjoyable were Mrs. Read's interpreting of two of Herbert Oliver's "Song of Old London", and John Alden Carpenter's "On the Seashore of Endless Worlds".

Among the most able talks of the convention was the address Tuesday night by Mrs. Medill McCormick. Her theme was "Woman in Politics" and she spoke from broad experience, supplemented by acute observation.

Needed Legislation. "Women Needed Legislation for Women and Children" by Hon. George H. Wilson, Quincy, was the main address of the afternoon session Wednesday. For several years Mr. Wilson has been floor leader of the dries in the assembly. He has made a steady stand for reform and his labors for industrial legislation have given him special fitness to discuss the subject announced.

After the address by Mr. Wilson the delegates went to the opera house where there was shown the suffrage drama, "Your Girl and Mine". Mrs. Medill McCormick introduced the picture, a strong melodrama which is shown under auspices of the National American Woman's Suffrage association.

In the symposium Wednesday forenoon Miss Olmsted told of public health work in Jacksonville and the open air school, Miss Hinrichsen gave the story of the Red Cross seal and Mrs. Adams presented "The New Citizen and Public Health".

Each speaker was well received and the delegates seemed intensely interested in the facts brought forth.

At the close of the symposium the federation by unanimous vote went on record as favoring the work done for the cause of public health in Jacksonville by Miss Olmsted.

The First Day Program.

The address of welcome was delivered by Mrs. Ella M. Orr. She spoke of the progress of women for the past hundred years and made special reference to the life and work of Frances E. Willard. Mrs. Otto Hoover of Milton spoke of the widening sphere of woman in the smaller towns and cities of the country. The delegates were welcomed to the city by Judge Harry Higbee, who spoke in lieu of the mayor.

Miss Ada M. Glenn, the district president, in response for the federation, spoke of the work done by the Twentieth District organization. She said that excellent progress is being made by the sixty affiliated clubs of the district.

Mrs. C. E. Smoot of Petersburg gave a report of the biennial meeting in Chicago in 1914, which she described as the "greatest gathering of women the world had ever known." Two hundred women attended the first federation meeting in 1892 and twenty-two years later the number in attendance at the national convention totalled ten thousand.

Mrs. Charles H. Zimmerman of Chicago, the state president, was next introduced and she told enterprisingly of the work of the different departments. Fifty-nine thousand women belong to five hundred federated clubs in Illinois and in the nation two million women have membership in nine thousand clubs.

Mrs. Howard T. Wilson of Virden, a member of the art committee of the general federation, followed with an interesting address on "Art for Life's Sake." To broaden conceptions of life was described by Mrs. Wilson as the true function of art. She referred especially to civic art and prophesied that the time will come when cities and villages will be built on a plan which will combine business efficiency with beauty. She pointed out the duty of school authorities in providing art education and gave suggestions for beautification of home and school. Following were the regular committees:

Credentials: Mrs. L. G. Hirschelmer, Mrs. Anna Dustin, Mrs. Earl Grigsby, Mrs. George Smith, Mrs. Clay Williams, Pittsfield.

Resolutions: Mrs. I. J. Schwoer, Beardstown; Mrs. Thos. Worthington, Jacksonville; Mrs. J. T. Pouché, Petersburg.

Revision: Mrs. Gaines Green, Petersburg; Mrs. Julian Hall, Athens; Mrs. O. F. Ericson, Pittsfield.

Nominations: Mrs. A. L. Adams, Jacksonville; Mrs. J. B. Conner, Mt. Sterling; Mrs. Anna Dustin, Pittsfield.

CRAWFORD LUMBER CO.

BURLINGTON COAL TRAIN WRECKED NEAR INDEPENDENCE AVE. CROSSING

Five Coal Cars and Engine Were Derailed—Oklahoma Colored Man Riding Between Cars Had Leg Crushed—Brake Beam Fell and Caught in Switch Frog.

A wreck on the Burlington railroad about 1:20 Wednesday afternoon resulted in injury for the fireman, Mac Smith of Beardstown, and the loss of a leg for Albert Croser, a colored man of Muskogee, Okla., who was riding between two of the freight cars. It was north bound, and drawn by a monster engine of the M-2 class. Just at Independence avenue at a point a few feet south of where the C. P. & St. L. and the Burlington tracks merge, the great engine went off the track. The engineer, Lawrence Kendall, and the fireman both jumped as did Charles Moran, the front end brakeman. None of these three was injured except Smith, who fractured his ankle and also received a somewhat painful wound on the jaw. The train was moving slowly, but the momentum of the cars was such that five of them, in addition to the engine, left the rails.

Cause of the Wreck.

Workmen in clearing the wreckage, found the brake beam behind the main driver of the engine, lying beneath the frog of the switch, and gave this as the cause of the accident. The beam had become loose on the right side of the engine. Engineer Kendall in speaking of the cause of the wreck corroborated the version of the workmen, but he claims that a broken rail was the cause of the brake beam falling, which happened after he had set the air brake.

Croser was riding between the third and fourth cars back of the engine and when the cars twisted one leg was caught in such a way that the foot was crushed and there was also a break above the knee. His cries of pain quickly brought him to notice and every effort was made to extricate him. This work, however, took nearly an hour, and he was in an exhausted state when finally released and conveyed in an ambulance to Passavant hospital, where Dr. Carl E. Black amputated the leg. Dr. Black also cared for the injuries of Mac Smith, fireman. He took an X-ray of the man's right foot and placed the fractured ankle in a plaster cast and sent him to his home in a wheel chair.

Two Tracks Blocked.

The engine when it left the rails was thrown over to the east on the adjoining C. P. & St. L. track and the rails of both tracks were so twisted and torn that the wrecking crew and repairmen were busy all the rest of the day before traffic could be resumed. Passengers who were going north on the C. P. & St. L. were notified that they must take the train at a point north of Independence avenue, and the Burlington train south, which reaches this city about 2 o'clock from Concord, was annulled. Two of the cars were very badly twisted, but the other three were not damaged to any very large extent. The engineer and fireman owe their escape from permanent injury to the fact that the train was not moving rapidly.

The news of the wreck spread very rapidly and hundreds of people were on the scene fifteen minutes afterward. Drs. Black and A. M. King were present in order to give any assistance possible in directing the removal of mangled men and there were dozens of men in the crowd anxious to give every assistance to the railroad men who were engaged in the actual work of freeing Croser.

It was necessary to remove a great many tons of coal from one end of one of the cars in order to make it possible to saw out a portion of the end of the car and thus release the man. William Nunes was one of those most active in this work and brought tools from his home nearby for the purpose. The train crew in addition to those already mentioned included Elmer Townsend, conductor and B. Eber, rear brakeman. All of these men are residents of Beardstown.
